

Creeping Consumption

Do not think for a single moment that consumption will ever strike you a sudden blow. It does not come that way. It creeps its way along. First, you think it is a little cold; nothing but a little hacking cough; then a little loss in weight; then a harder cough; then the fever and the night sweats. The suddenness comes when you have a hemorrhage. Better stop the disease while it is yet creeping. You can do it with

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

You first notice that you cough less. The pressure on the chest is lifted. That feeling of suffocation is removed. A cure is hastened by placing one of Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Plaster over the Chest.

A Game of Muggins.

Miss Annie Guthrie entertained a number of young people on Friday evening complimentary to Miss Hancock. A variety of games were indulged in, but "Muggins" was the most satisfactory. More fun can be derived from muggins than from any six other games now in use. Light refreshments of tea, chocolate, a variety of cake and fruits were served at the close of the game.

Those present were, Misses May Brandon, Annie Hawkins, Miss Hicks and Miss Hancock, and Messrs. Francisco, Tom Rainey and Herbert Striker.

Married.

At Marshall, Mo., on March 3, 1899. By Chas. M. Hawley Esq. Mr. Luther F. Wade of Napton Mo. and Miss Sopha Buckstetter of Saline City Mo.

We did not come to Marshall to sell tickets, quote poetry, fake the public or presume to "know it all." Our gallery is established for the people, we make no pets nor cater to any class, but give everyone just what we promise; we shall make our home here, spend our money here and expect a liberal share of public patronage and shall endeavor to merit the same by the quality of our work and our dealings with the people. Try us.

A VIOLET WEDDING.

Mr. Eugene Dawes and Miss Lily Mae Conway, both of this city the contracting parties.

For several months unusual interest has been centered in the prospective marriage of Mr. Eugene Dawes, a young man prominent in business and social circles, and Miss Lily Mae Conway, daughter of J. M. Conway of this city, who were married on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, at the home of the bride in West Marshall, Rev. Wharton officiating. Miss Minnie Jurden and Mr. P. T. Reynolds, close friends of the bride, were the only guests present, out side of the relatives. The bride, a handsome brunette, looked like a young princess in an elegant gown of violet silk with yoke of white taffeta, embroidered in gold and silk threads, with a beautiful hat covered in violets, violet gloves and carrying sweet violets.

"Sweet violets, I've loved ye long and well, And never have failed in your fragrance sweet.

To find some secret spell."

The groom wore a handsome suit of conventional black. The happy couple left on the 10:30 C. & A. for St. Louis, where they will stop at the Planters for a week or two, when they will return to Marshall and will be at home to their friends at the residence of Mr. M. M. Marmaduke, on East Arrow St.

The REPUBLICAN extends congratulations, with the wish that the new life just begun may be one of happiness and peace.

Logsdon—Conway.

Miss Ruby Conway and Mr. Carroll Logsdon were married at the home of the bride, on Eastwood, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Wharton performing the ceremony. The wedding was a very quiet one, only the immediate relatives being present. The bride, a charming young lady, who is very popular with all who know her, was very becomingly dressed in a handsome tan cloth gown, with hat and gloves ensuite, gracefully carrying bride's roses on her arm.

The groom, a son of Mr. Carroll Logsdon, of this city, is a substantial young farmer and was dressed in conventional black. The youthful couple took the 3:30 train for Blackburn, where they held a reception at their own residence. Mr. and Mrs. Logsdon and other members of the family being there when they arrived, to receive them. The Republican extends best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Logsdon for a long and happy life.

Pearsonian Open Session.

The people of Marshall have had several opportunities of late, to hear some most excellent programs at the open sessions of the literary societies of M. V. C. and they have taken advantage of them. The worth of the two within the last month, will be certain to attract an equally large house to witness the re-nedication of the third and last, the Houshouan; and as the college chapel is very small, stragglers never find seats.

The Pearsonians chose Monday night to invite visitors and they certainly pleased the audience that met them. The program was varied and this fact added interest and enjoyment to the occasion. It was as follows:

Invocation.

Piano duet, "Hector"—Misses Mary Black and Letha Stephens. Recitation, "Jack the Fisherman"—Miss Rilyne Ward.

Glee Club.

Oration—English rule in India—Mr. W. H. Zeigel.

Paper—Miss Edith Mitchell and Mr. E. A. Porter.

Piano solo, "Polonaise Andante Spianato: Allegro"—Chopin—Miss Charlotte Jones.

Reading from Tom Sawyer—Mr. J. A. Ward.

Glee Club.

STRING-TOWN EPISODE.

Characters.

Brother Almanac—E. A. Porter.

Shady—H. S. McCord.

Snow Ball—Ellyne Ward.

Mr. Parsons—C. C. Gross.

Amanda Thomson.

Miss Amanda Thomson was born May 20, 1855, and departed this life at the home of her sister, Mrs. Strickler, in Knox County, Mo., Feb. 27. She was converted and united with the M. E. Church, South, at the age of 13, and remained a consistent member until her death. She united with the church in Marshall during the pastorate of Rev. L. P. Norfleet and has made this her church home ever since.

She has been afflicted with a trouble of the heart for some years; of late the decline has been quite rapid. She left Marshall for her sister's home, near Knox City, last fall, expecting to delay the end. But all to no avail. Her last days were spent in great pain. While expressing a desire to live, she was not afraid to die. Miss Angie Thomson, her sister residing here, was telegraphed for the morning of the date of her death, but it is believed that she was not able to reach her bedside before she breathed her last. Her funeral services were held by Rev. S. E. Botsford of Edina, and the interment took place in a cemetery near by.

Roger Rhoades.

Little Roger Rhoades, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Rhoades of this city, died of spinal meningitis at the residence of his parents at 11 o'clock on Friday morning, March 3, 1899. He had only been sick one day and everything was done for him that human skill could do. He had just turned into his sixth year, was a bright, lovely child, the pride of his father's life, the joy of his mother's heart.

"Not dead but sleeping.

Not lost but gone before."

"Safe in the arms of Jesus

Safe on his gentle breast,

There by his love o'er shroued,

Sweetly his soul shall rest."

Missionary Mite.

The ladies of the Missionary Society of Smith's Chapel gave a Missionary mite at the residence of Judge Stouffer, near Napton last week, that was a most pleasant affair. One of the principal amusements of the evening was the voting of a quilt to the most popular young lady. Miss Virginia Smith, daughter of Dr. T. A. Smith, receiving the largest number of votes drew the quilt, which was a thing of beauty. Games, music and lovely refreshments made the evening pass swiftly away.

Money don't grow on trees. Be careful how you spend it. A dollar isn't much but it will buy one hundred shares in some of the Gold Mining Stock Companies in the Cripple Creek gold mining district. Better still, it will buy one dozen regular Cabinet size photos made by Hutchings' Studio North-West corner square.

Old Fellows Encampment.

The I. O. O. F. had an encampment in Marshall this last week, at which R. M. Abercrombie of St. Joseph and Mr. Black of St. Louis were present and conducted the exercises.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

John W. Rose, C. P.; R. E. Holloway, S. W.; D. L. Cooper, J. W.; H. C. Hall, H. P.; J. P. Loftus, Sec'y; G. E. C. Sharp, Treas.; W. W. Huff, 1st G.; Jess W. Wheeler, 2nd G.; W. A. Vawter, G. T.; Ed L. Brown, G. T.; M. F. Cooper, 3rd G.; M. E. Crockett, 4th G.; Chas. Petry, I. S.; I. E. Holstein, O. S.

Wilson Fisher off for Old Mexico.

Wilson Fisher left Monday morning for Tampico, Old Mexico, where he has accepted a position with the Pierce, Waters, Oil Co. He has been employed at the New York Store for ten years and could have remained ten years more, as the firm was loth to give him up—but he felt that a change of business, climate, etc. might be beneficial to him. Mr. Fisher is a genial, energetic and successful young business man, of a most excellent family, who with his many friends are very sorry to have him go so far from home and who join with the Republican in wishing for him success in his new home.

Mrs. See Entertains The C. L. S. C.

The Aristotelian C. L. S. C., had a most interesting meeting with Mrs. See, at her home on Saturday, when the study of the play of "Othello" was found to be both pleasant and profitable. At the close of the lesson, Mrs. See surprised the circle by serving refreshments, that were most acceptable, consisting of gelatine, served with whipped cream, chocolates, marshmallows and ornamental little cakes baked in the form of the different letters in the alphabet and to each cake was attached a card, on which a quotation, beginning with the letter represented by the cake, for instance, "The world is mine oyster," was attached to the letter T.

In Honor of Miss Erickson.

Miss Mary Northern, in her easy graceful manner, entertained a limited number of young ladies at supper one evening last week, after which the gentlemen were invited in, when carroms, parchesi and jackstraws were indulged in, much to the pleasure of those present. Light refreshments were enjoyed during the game. Those in attendance were, Miss Erickson of Salisbury, in whose honor the occasion was given, Misses Agnes Spencer, May Brandon, Mary Hunter and Berta Francicco; Messrs. Clayton Lamkin, Tom Rainey, Mr. Hunker, Harry Francisco and Jim Denny.

Missouri Matters.

In the case of R. B. Bruce against Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bonbeck for damages for a wrong committed by the wife in running over the plaintiff, the Kansas City Court of Appeals held that the man was jointly responsible for offenses of his wife though not present at the time.

The Bank of Webb City has been sold to Wm. A. Wilson and C. R. Jones, of Kansas City.

The grand jury of Cole county has begun the task of looking into the charges, that there are numerous crap games running openly in the state capital.

Frank Drawn, formerly an engineer on the Pacific road, is being looked for by Sedalia officers, who have a warrant charging him with obtaining $400, fraudulently, from Miss Jennie Butterfield.

This session of Circuit Court at Carthage is confronted with a docket of forty-five divorce cases. The most interesting case is the damage suit of Mrs. M. J. Gilfillan against J. Mc. Crillis for $5000 for the killing of her husband.

It now seems that W. W. Lowe, who committed the blunder of confessing to train robbery in Jackson county, will lose his wife, who has instituted divorce proceedings against him.

Dr. Goddard of Kansas City, will be tried in June at Jefferson City before Judge Shackelford; W. S. Pope a member of the House, being an attorney for the defendant, secured the delay.

The grand jury of Wright county have found true bills against Ryan, Kenneby and the other train robbers at Macomb and their trials will proceed at once.

That portion of the Sundry Civil bill appropriating $90,000 for Missouri River improvement at Boonville, was stricken out in the final conference.
